1. Qualitative Information on Financial Results for the Nine Months Ended December 31, 2022

(1) Information regarding operating results

The global economy during the nine months ended December 31, 2022, was moderate recovery trend due to the easing of movement restrictions during the novel coronavirus (COVID-19), supply and demand balance for logistics, and shortage of semiconductors. On the other hand, the outlook remains uncertain due to the rise in commodity prices and the acceleration of inflation caused by the situation in Ukraine, as well as the tight monetary policy by central banks in each country.

By region, in the United States and Europe, although stay-at-home demand had peaked, the private consumption remained strong. In China, zero-COVID policy and the infection spread because of the easing of movement restrictions since December have affected corporate activities and private consumption. In Japan, the socio-economic activity generally returned to pre-pandemic levels, but the effect of rapid exchange rate fluctuations and a hike in price remain strong, and the recovery was moderate.

In this business environment, we worked to achieve our plans, such as soaring material costs and logistics costs, systematic production and maintaining sales by securing parts inventory.

Operating results for the nine months ended December 31, 2022, are summarized below. Net sales shown below represent net sales to third parties, after elimination of inter-segment sales.

Segment information

From April 2022, we have re-constructed the business segments into "Component business" aiming to maintain and expand the profitable base in the business segment, "Sensor Communication business" positioned as a growth area in the future, "Module System business" aiming to optimize the profitability by improving activities. That way, we are working toward more balanced growth. Accordingly, the classification of the reporting segment has been changed from the three-month period ended June 30, 2022.

In addition, as of the end of the three months ended June 30, 2022, Alps Logistics Co., Ltd. and its 25 subsidiaries were included in the scope applying equity method and from the second quarter of the consolidated accounting period, its subsidiaries are changed to "Other" segment. For further information, refer to "2. Quarterly Consolidated Financial Statements and Significant Notes Thereto, (3) Notes to quarterly consolidated financial statements (segment information), 4. Information concerning change of reportable segments".

<Component Segment>

In the mobile equipment products, sales were stable due to customers' good sales performances in smartphones. Although production volume partially declined due to the easing of the zero-COVID policy in China in December 2022 and the decline plant utilization in China caused by the infection spreading, sales and operating income marked higher compared to the same period of the previous fiscal year due to the good impact on performance by the depreciation of yen in foreign currency exchange market.

As a result, total net sales in this segment for the nine months ended December 31, 2022, increased by 25.3% to  $\pm$ 251.7 billion, and operating income increased by 28.8% to  $\pm$ 35.5 billion, compared to the same period of the previous fiscal year.

<Sensor Communication Segment>

Sensor's sales for in-vehicle products were stable along with a worldwide recovery in the automobile production, also with the good business performance affected by the depreciation of yen. On the other hand, operating income was lower compared to the same period of the previous period, due to the influences of the soaring semiconductor price and the customers' model change in sensors for smartphones.

As a result, total net sales in this segment for the nine months ended December 31, 2022, increased by 11.4% to $66.1 billion, and operating income decreased by 63.1% to $0.8 billion compared to the same period of the previous fiscal year.

<Module System Segment>

Although the plant utilization in China decreased due to the infection spread because of the zero-COVID policy easing in December 2022, sales and operating income marked higher compared to the same period of the previous year, which was brought by the recovery in new car production and by the contribution to business performance due to the depreciation of yen. We focused on the action to strengthen activities of the fair value in response to soaring costs such as material and logistics costs for suppliers and the cost reduction. However, the recovery in operating income was moderate, because the material costs remained high and the contribution to business performance by the depreciation of the yen for some products was limited.

As a result, total net sales in this segment for the nine months ended December 31, 2022, increased by 32.0% to $350.1 billion, compared to the same period of the previous fiscal year and operating loss was $5.1 billion (net operating loss in the same period of the previous year $8.0 billion).

On the consolidated basis for the nine months ended December 31, 2022, the Group consisting of three operating segments noted above and other, recorded net sales increased by 18.1% to ¥700.6 billion, operating income increased by 23.5% to ¥34.4 billion, ordinary income increased by 29.1% to ¥36.6 billion and net income attributable to owners of parent increased by 43.2% to ¥21.1 billion, compared to the previous fiscal year.

(2) Information regarding financial position

Assets, Liabilities and Net Assets

Total assets as of December 31, 2022, decreased by ¥14.2 billion to ¥729.2 billion, from the end of the previous fiscal year. Equity increased by ¥13.2 billion to ¥402.7 billion, and equity ratio was 55.2%.

Current assets as of December 31, 2022, increased by ¥6.0 billion to ¥465.1 billion, from the end of the previous fiscal year. The increase in current assets was mainly due to an increase in inventories and, trade notes and accounts receivable, partially offset by a decrease in cash and deposits.

Non-current assets as of December 31, 2022, decreased by ¥20.3 billion to ¥264.1 billion, from the end of the previous fiscal year. The decrease in non-current assets was mainly due to a decrease in buildings and structures, land, machinery equipment and vehicles, partially offset by an increase in investment securities.

Current liabilities as of December 31, 2022, increased by ¥12.1 billion to ¥246.3 billion, from the end of the previous fiscal year. The increase in current liabilities was mainly due to an increase in short-term borrowings and trade notes and accounts payable, partially offset by a decrease in provision for bonuses.

Non-current liabilities as of December 31, 2022, decreased by ¥5.3 billion to ¥78.5 billion, from the end of the previous fiscal year. The decrease in non- current liabilities was mainly due to a decrease in defined benefit liabilities, partially offset by an increase in deferred tax liabilities.

The main reason in the decrease in non-current assets and non-current liabilities and the increase in investment securities mentioned above were the impact of change of Alps Logistics Co., Ltd and its 25 subsidiaries, both of which were consolidated subsidiaries, into equity-method.

(3) Information regarding consolidated earnings forecast and other forward-looking statements

The global economy still remains uncertain, but there is no change to the consolidated earnings forecast announced on October 28, 2022.

The estimated exchange rate in the second half is 1 = 135.00, 1 = 135.00.

We launched our second medium-term management plan in April 2022, set targets of consolidated sales of more than 800 billion yen and consolidated operating margin of 8% (ROE 10%) as "itc88" and will continue to develop countermeasures to get back on the growth path by continuing to improve the quality of business, reform costs, and improve capabilities. Furthermore, by fiscal 2027, we will aim at "ITC101" (the consolidated sales of 1.0 trillion yen, the consolidated operating margin and ROE of 10%) and aim to be a T-shaped company that maximizes stakeholder value, achieves both CSR and ESG and creates value for excitement, safety, and the environment through both hardware and software technologies.
